The Saint Closes Case Leslie

From 1930, THE LAST HERO(later title was THE SAINT CLOSES THE CASE) would be in modern parlance a fix-up novel. It was initially two separate stories published in THRILLER magazine in 1929. Charteris took a chunk out of the first story and dropped the second in the middle, of course doing some re-writing to smooth things over.

"The Saint Closes the Case" comes very early in the Saint Saga. It is an entertaining caper written in a pacey manner which in some ways resembles that of writers like Sapper. Except Charteris' style perhaps survives the test of time better, having fewer of the jingoistic characteristics that now seem dated, and even offensive to contemporary tastes.

The Saint Closes the Case (also known as The Last Hero) is the third book in Leslie Charteris' Saint series, and the first in which things start to go off the rails. Departing from the Robin Hood meets Sherlock Holmes tone of the previous books, The Saint Closes the Case is a thriller with elements of science fiction, also departing from its predecessors in terms of tone.

The Saint Closes the Case by Leslie Charteris

The Saint Closes The Case (The Last Hero) By Leslie Charteris. Author's Foreword. This was the first "big" Saint novel—that is, the first story in which he went up against king-size international dragons, as against the ordinary leeches, rats, skunks, and other vermin of the Underworld—and it still seems to be one of the prime favorites of those loyal readers who have followed his adven ...
